The Winds and Words of War: Posters and Prints from the San Antonio Public Library Collection

To: Educators and Teachers
From: Harford County Public Library

Harford County Public Library is the proud recipient of a traveling exhibition of 40 framed original World War I posters, prints and lithographs not seen on public display since 1933. The exhibit includes vintage posters designed by artists such as Charles Dana Gibson and James Montgomery Flagg and includes the “Uncle Sam Wants You” poster.

We were chosen to be included on the national tour and are the only location on the East Coast. The exhibit will be on display at the Bel Air and Jarrettsville branches from March 20 – May 31, 2010 and trained exhibit guides will provide informative tours for individuals and groups.

If you are interested in scheduling a tour for your students, please contact Susan Burdette at Burdette@hcplonline.info or 410-273-5601 x2243. A teacher resource kit will be available soon at www.hcplonline.info and will include the following:

- Exhibition Information
- Biographical Sketches of the Artists:
 - William Glackens
 - Charles Dana Gibson
 - Howard Chandler Christy
 - James Montgomery Flagg
 - Harrison Fisher
 - Edmund M. Ashe
- Classroom Programs and Suggested Lesson Plans
- Suggested Reading List
- Suggested Film List
- Web Resources
- Harford County and WWI Timeline

If you would like to display the promotional flyer or forward the exhibit information on to any other educator contacts you might have, please let us know and we can provide you with the flyer of information.

In addition to this exhibit, there will be adult programming at several branches including book discussion groups, a World War I era music program and a film series. All events are free to the public. There will also be a commemorative book including information about the posters and prints and a commemorative poster available for purchase.

We hope you will join us for this exciting exhibit and programs!

Sincerely,

Susan Burdette
