Would you enjoy talking to people and sharing information about art and history during the fascinating World War I era? If so, this is the perfect volunteer opportunity for you!

Harford County Public Library is the proud recipient of The Winds and Words of War, a traveling exhibition of 40 framed, vintage World War I posters not seen on public display since 1933. The exhibit includes original posters and prints designed by artists such as James Montgomery Flagg, creator of the "Uncle Sam Wants You" poster. We were chosen to be included on the national tour and the only location on the East Coast.

The exhibit will be on display at the Bel Air and Jarrettsville branches from March 20 through May 31, 2010. The exhibit hours are Mondays, Fridays and Saturdays from 10 a.m. – 5 p.m. and Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays from 1 p.m. – 8 p.m. It will be free-of-charge and open to the public.

We invite you to become an exhibit volunteer! We plan to have trained exhibit guides or 'docents' available at both locations to either answer questions, provide 20 minute tours, help with tracking visitors or selling the exhibit book.

Training will be held for exhibit guides on Saturday, March 6 at the Bel Air Branch from 10:00 am – 1:30 pm. You will meet Allison Hays Lane, Curator and Project Organizer from San Antonio Texas, who promises us a fun, interactive and educational session with a surprise presentation to 'get us in the mood of the World War I era'. This is a once in a lifetime event for Harford County and we know you'll enjoy participating. We truly appreciate your interest and welcome your offer to help.

Please take a moment to fill out the attached volunteer application and indicate if you will be able to attend the training on March 6.

I will contact you soon! Please feel free to call me if you have any questions!

Sincerely,
