

Liriodendron Museum features art by Joan Henderson Hodous

Artist and Harford native Joan Hodous, who was recently named as a Harford Living Treasure, stands in one of the rooms in her Bel Air home Wednesday, March 30, 2022 surrounded by several of her barn paintings and other interesting items collected over the years.

By Shaela Foster

An art show featuring the work of Harford County native Joan Henderson Hodous is on display at the Liriodendron Mansion in Bel Air through June 4.

The exhibit, "A Retrospective 75 Years of Art," has been up since late April and will continue through June 4, in celebration of Hodous's 90th birthday. Visitors can view it every Wednesday from 1 to 5 p.m.

In her 90 years, Hodous has been a painter, photographer, poet, business owner, collector, philanthropist, advocate for women, world traveler, wife and mother. The Harford County Council recognized Hodous as a Harford Living Treasure in 2022.

For more information about the exhibit visit <https://liriodendron.com>.