“A life well-lived is deeply enriched by the presence and influence of the arts. The Harford County Cultural Arts Advisory Board plays a key role in helping to preserve, enhance and promote the arts in our community, and we are grateful for their expertise,” said Mary Hastler, CEO of Harford County Public Library. “This year’s Community Arts Development

Grants support a wide range of nonprofits and arts programming, which contributes to making Harford County a wonderful place to live, work and play.”

Meg McReynolds, cultural arts and community outreach coordinator at Harford County Public Library, said, “The arts play an important role in the vitality of Harford County, and HCCAAB is proud to work in partnership with these stellar nonprofits to ensure ongoing access to the arts for our local communities. These grants provide critical funding for nonprofits to support their ongoing operations and to provide arts experiences such as plays, concerts and dance performances for audiences of all ages.”

Harford County Cultural Arts Advisory Board also provides Arts in Education Grants, which offer funding for arts experiences for Harford’s nonprofit schools, government facilities and community-based settings serving youth or other traditionally underserved populations. Founded in 1973, Harford County Cultural Arts Advisory Board is the official county arts agency, serving as the primary local resource for arts organizations, independent artists and the audiences of Harford County. The government-appointed advisory board provides grant funding, sponsors workshops, events and promotional opportunities, and encourages, advocates for and invests in the advancement of the arts in Harford County. Since December 2015, Harford County Cultural Arts Advisory Board has operated under the auspices of the Harford County Public Library Board of Library Trustees.

Activities are made possible by a County Arts Development grant from the Maryland State Arts Council, a Maryland State agency under the authority of the Department of Commerce, Division of Tourism, Film and the Arts.
